

Scientist Training Programme

(STP) OPEN DAY

MONDAY 27th JANUARY 2020, 9am – 12pm

Are you a science graduate with a 2:1 degree or higher or are you about to complete a science degree and want to train to be a Clinical Scientist in the NHS?

The Physiological Science Departments at the Rotherham NHS Foundation Trust are holding a free open day to give prospective STP and Healthcare Science applicants the opportunity to explore the programme and what the Trust could offer you as a trainee.

The open day will include:-

A general overview of the Scientist Training Programme

How TRFT supports STP trainees to maximise their training

Stands including posters and departmental information

Current STP students and staff representation to answer questions on specific areas

For more information on the Scientist Training Programme see:- www.nshcs.hee.nhs.uk

To register for this open day email:-
phillip.matthews@nhs.net

For further info please call the Cardiac Device Suite on:- (01709) 424261

