

Professional Body update

Professional Body updates

- British Society of Audiology (BSA)
- Association of Neurophysiological Scientists (ANS)
- Association of Health Professions in Ophthalmology (AHPO)

Update from British Society of Audiology (BSA)

British Society of Audiology

BSA Scientific Meeting 2023 – 5th & 6th June, Birmingham

- Harvey Dillon as keynote speaker
- The meeting will offer a variety of interactive workshops delivered by our Special Interest Groups; Adult Rehabilitation, Cognition & Hearing, Tinnitus & Hyperacusis, Balance, Paediatrics, Electrophysiology, Auditory Processing Disorder and Bone Conduction and Middle Ear Devices

British Society of Audiology

Online Learning

Available 24/7 via the BSA Website

Sound Practice

An online library of peer shared resources that aims to support provision of adult hearing rehabilitation

Research Matchmaking

An area for Audiology researchers, mentors and participants to come together to facilitate research and improve audiology knowledge and practice

Update from Association of Neurophysiological Scientists (ANS)

Association of Neurophysiological Scientists

Current and new projects:

- Reviewing professional standards for modalities that form basis of professional practical examinations and moving towards an electronic portfolio and assessment system.
- Looking forward to being involved in the development of the STP Intraoperative Neuro Monitoring curriculum.
- Hoping to work with the School to get a level 6 ECP apprenticeship in Neurophysiology.

Association of Health Professions in Ophthalmology (AHPO)

Association of Health Professions in Ophthalmology

AHPO promote education and training in ophthalmic and vision science

- A registered charity that promotes the practice, education, training and research in the field of ophthalmology and vision science throughout the UK
- An independent training organisation that provides apprenticeships, diplomas and short courses for ophthalmic staff
- For more information about the work of AHPO see www.ahpo.net

Association of Health Professions in Ophthalmology

How AHPO delivers Apprenticeships and Diplomas

- Programmes are delivered nationally via blended learning
- Learners have an AHPO-appointed assessor and a workplace mentor
- Each learner has an ePortfolio for coursework and workplace assessments
- We provide eBooks prepared by AHPO, and published textbooks, and provide learners with a tablet for reading the books
- We provide a range of other learning materials that include PowerPoint presentations, webinars and training videos